With the help of this programme, parents can become more aware of and understand their children's developmental changes and needs. They are encouraged to critically reflect on their parenting principles and attitudes, and adjust the way they relate with and guide their children, in order to improve parent-child communication and raise a happy, healthy family. With this practice, parents can effectively support their children to build self-esteem and resist temptations such as drug offers. Even in crises, parents will be ready and equipped with strategies to respond, and to guide their children out of harm.

Parents who successfully complete the Parent Programme have the option to take part in two newly developed sessions which entail issues relating to sex education.

To learn more about the Parent Programme, please contact Miranda Chan (miranda@leap.org.hk), or Cindy Wong (cindy@leap.org.hk), or call them on 2530 0018.
